Are we heading to a second edition of the roaring twenties?
Or is our financial world aiming to another great depression of the thirty's from last century?

That's the question what all economist and bankers asking themselves...
With the pandemic of late and the inflation that goes up because the money is just too cheap this is a question only future will tell....

What we can tell you today is what's new @ BBT and whatever happens we will be here to help making your Volkswagen life a happy life!
Welcome to our weekly BBT News!

Started from our brand new window frames (click HERE) we made a kit of the complete door window frames for your splittie bus.

Kit contains the frame, all E-certified glass, all rubber and all installation hardware, exactly as shown on the pictures.

We supply all parts loose and nicely packed in a box in order to make life easy.

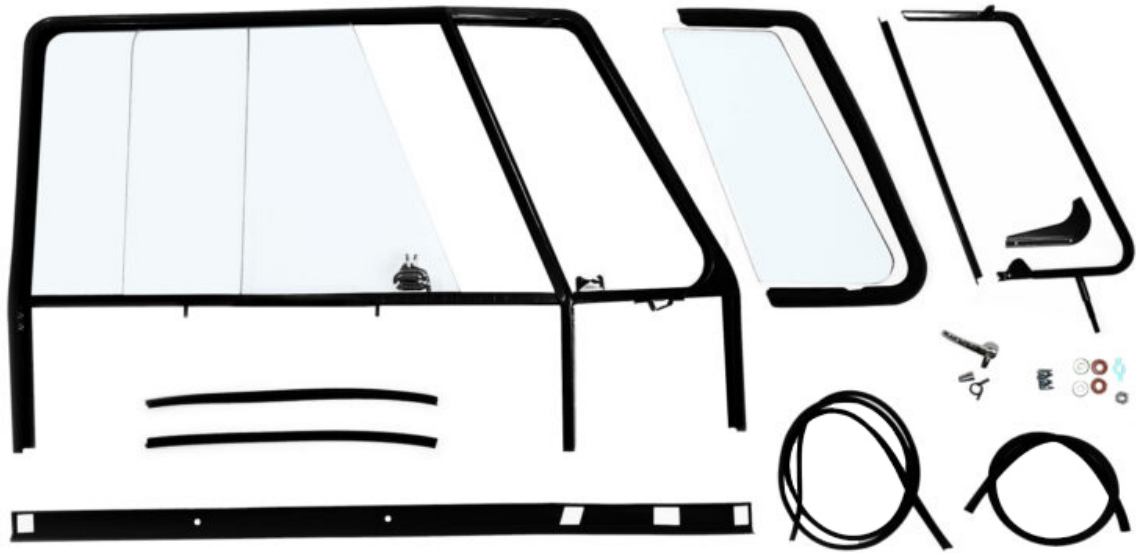

You can first paint the frame and later install all components.

Let's start your easy VW splittie bus life here!

Although our emergency brake handles BBT # 0521 and BBT # 0521-100 are usable on practically all years, we decided to split up the models as original and bring you the correct models like Volkswagen intended.

BBT # 0521 and BBT # 0521-100 have been all correct for 1955 up to 1964 model years. We strongly recommend this type of E-brake also for Buggy and off-road use, because simply less can go wrong with these. They fit all years.

Our new BBT # 0521-010 is the same handle than the early type, but has the little pin on top. This pin holds the original emergency brake cable compensator. A very impressive name for just a small metal bridge that holds the emergency brake cables and balance on the pin in order to “compensate” the difference in tension between left and right cable. A feature Volkswagen introduced for the 1965 model year and ran till end of production.

The brake handle compensator is included in the kit, but can also be ordered separately under BBT # 0929-250 BBT 0521-010 is only available in chrome for now, but we work on a black version as well which we hope to receive by the end of 2021.

We close this week with a less common brake part which we like to shine on some spot light. The brake support rod, makes sure your emergency brakes work nicely, with pulling the E-brake handle you push these E-brake support rods to open both brake shoes and so make the brakes working.

We have a complete line of E-brake support rods to cover almost all VW models.
We love to highlight our BBT # 1239-360 because it is the most complicated brake rod solely used in 1971-1973 model year VW bus or utility.

We made these very particular E-brake rods many years ago and so it's always good to give them a little flashback!

All of our other emergency brake support rods can be found HERE
